TWO SUPERVISORS.

County Attorney Calls Court's Attention To Money Illegally Spent.

The agitation of the twenty cent tax, mention of which was made in our last issue, has stirred the people of the county to some extent and unearthed the fact that Garrard County was paying the salaries of two real supervisors, notice of which was brought to the attention of the Fiscal Court at its meeting last Tuesday, by our County Attorney, Green Clay Walker.

Mr. Walker who is employed to look after the people's interest and at the same time to see to it that the county's money is legally spent, discovered that Mike Forbes is being paid five dollars a day for his services as Board Supervisor and that Dr. J. A. Amon is also drawing a salary of $1,200 a year for the same services. Both of these men are being paid out of the county's money.

When the attention of the court was called to it by Mr. Walker, it was decided that the matter would be taken up at its next meeting tomorrow, as some of the court was of the opinion that Forbes salary was being paid by Dr. Amon.

The County Attorney contends that the county should not pay the salary of two supervisors, and if the second one is needed, it should come from the pockets of Mr. Amon.

In the meantime the people will await with abated interest, the conclusions the court will come to in the matter that is being so liberally discussed by the tax payers of the county.

Supervisors Busy.

The Garrard County Board of Supervisors have been quite busy for the past week hearing complaints from the tax-payers whose property has been raised by order of the State Tax Commission.

Probably two hundred were summons before the Board for last Monday and from the crowd that packed the court house, most of them answered the summons.

Protracted Meeting.

A series of meetings will begin at the Methodist church in this city, Sunday April 13th, at which time Rev. L. B. Bridgers, of Gainesville, Ga., will arrive and assist Rev. Palmer throughout the meeting. Mr. Bridgers comes highly recommended as an evangelist and we have no doubt that much good will be accomplished through his teachings. More details of the meeting will be given next week.

New Truck Route.

Truck Route: From Lexington to Lancaster, beginning Friday April 12th, and continuing every Friday thereafter. I will run a truck from Lexington to Lancaster, and will haul you merchandise, no matter what it may be at 40 cents per hundred. Also small packages taken at reasonable rates. A trial will be appreciated. Leave Lexington at 10 o'clock. Captain: Saturday, April 12th, all who will are asked to come.

Simpson House Sold.

Judge L. L. Walker purchased the dwelling of Mrs. Leah Simpson last Saturday afternoon and possession was given at once. The price, while not given out, is said to have been a good one. Judge Walker will make extensive improvements, adding several rooms and remodel the entire building.

It will be a source of pleasure to her friends as well as to the public to know that Mrs. Simpson will continue to run it as a boarding house the remainder of the year, longer if she so desires. The property was bought by Judge Walker as an investment.

Swinebroad Sells 'Em.

The above title is always appropriate when one speaks of a farm that has been placed in the hands of Swinebroad the real estate man for sale. He always sells 'em. Some of his recent sales made within the past week included the Frye Sale at Hustonville which brought $5,232 cash. The Pettus sale the day following, the farm containing 82 1/2 acres was sold to J. B. Bryan at $173 an acre. Mr. Bryan paid cash for this farm. This sale "wizzards" also sold for W. E. Moss the farm that was recently purchased of S. H. Doulin out the Kemper Lane, to Walter Humphrey for $140. an acre. Mr. Moss paid $125 an acre for it January 1st last.

Mr. Swinebroad is going to sell another one next Thursday. Read about it in this issue.

WATTERSONRETIREES.

Severs Connection With Courier Journal after Fifty Years Service.

The announcement that Henry Watterson has severed his connection as Editor Emeritus of the Courier Journal, after serving fifty years as its editor, will be read with regret by his friends and patrons of this splendid journal.

The Courier Journal of yesterday said editorially:

"Mr. Watterson retires as Editor Emeritus of The Courier-Journal with this issue. From 1868 until 1918 its editor, his brilliant, forceful and individual writings on public questions brought fame both to himself and this Journal. Desiring to retire last August when control of the newspaper changed hands, he yet was persuaded to remain in the capacity of Editor Emeritus, through which connection he might continue to address the readers of The Courier Journal while relieved of the active responsibilities of the editorship. He now rejoices in his retirement, finding in conflict his views, opposing the League of Nations, and those of The Courier-Journal, favoring the proposal. His personality will continue to be an inspiration to Courier-Journal workers; his accomplishments, a standard of achievement; his name, one to be praised and loved. He has passed his seventy-ninth birthday. May he pass many another milestone before the world loses him as a companion or letters are deprived of the magic of his pen!"

In the meantime the people will await with abated interest, the conclusions the court will come to in the matter that is being so liberally discussed by the tax payers of the county.

IN JAIL AGAIN

Confirmed Thief Draws Thirty Days on Third Conviction.

McKinley Schouler, a colored boy who went to the pen a year or so ago for house-breaking is back in town again, and on Monday was brought before Judge Stapp on a charge of stealing harness from Mr. J. A. Beazley.

It seems that the negro got the harness in the day-time and attempted to trade them to the tannery Mill for coal when the engineer at the Mill suspicious something and called up Mr. Beazley, who promptly recognized his harness and had the negro arrested and brought before Judge Stapp who after hearing the evidence of Mr. Beazley and the engineer at the Mill found the negro guilty and fixed his punishment at thirty days in the County Jail.

This same negro spent a year and eighty days in jail on one stretch prior to his trip to "the pen".

Garrard Boy Comes Home.

Rev. J. R. Moorman entertained a few of his friends at the Kengarahan last Tuesday evening at which time a delightful dinner was served.

Those enjoying the hospitality of the general "parson" were: Messrs John M. Farra, F. S. Hughes, J. A. Beazley, P. H. Hopkins, L. G. Davidson, Dr. W. M. Elliott and R. L. Elkin.

Junior Social.

Mrs. F. D. Palmer, assisted by Mrs. Walter Moss, entertained the Junior Missionary Society at the Methodist Parsonage Saturday afternoon.

There were twenty-six boys and girls present. After playing games, they were served with refreshments.

All left after having spent a most delightful afternoon together.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Rayburn have the sympathy of the community in the loss of their little twin boy who passed away Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ledford left Tuesday for Louisville to visit their son, John S., who has returned from overseas and is in the hospital at Camp Taylor.

Miss Marie Ledford entertained a number of young people at dinner Sunday in honor of her guests, Misses Leona Webb of Berea, and Edith Broughton, of Waco.

W. F. Parks came very near losing his residence last week by fire. Two squares of roof burned before they succeeded in extinguishing the flames thought to have started by a spark lighting on the roof.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Parks and all who were in danger wish to thank the good people of Paint Lick who so kindly came to their assistance when their house was so near being destroyed by fire last week.

The members of the Christian Church will send a case or two of eggs to the Orphans Home at Louisville, for Easter, and all who wish to contribute are requested to take their donations to Mr. Burchell's store.

Lake With No Outlet.
Lake Chai, in the heart of East Africa, has no known outlet for the many rivers pouring into it. Its waters rise and fall with great rapidity. The Alexander expedition records that frequently spaces over which they had sailed in the morning had by evening become stretches of dried mud.

Sacrifice.

The Kansas Industrialist says skunk oil and rattlesnake oil are worthless as liniments for rheumatism and kindred ills. Just how far should college papers be allowed to go in interference with free beliefs founded on the traditions of centuries? Reading Useless Without Action.

If you want to get value out of a book, however, don't lean on it as though you were a cripple. A book can't take you by sheer force and protect you into a good job or put more money in your pay envelope, or make you industrious or patient when you are otherwise. All you can expect of a book is that it tells you how these things can be accomplished. The real job lies with you.

No Time for Sadness.

Away with sadness! She often raps at my door, and while I try not to be rude, I always pretend to be very busy. Just a light word of recognition by way of common politeness? Then laugh if you can, an' do it quickly, lad, 'cause she will pass on—Exchange.

Labor-Saving Devices.

Water is used to transport the coal through pipes, and in Oregon a blast of air is used to load hay in freight cars. The hay is drawn up to a deck or flat bed beside the car to be loaded, or that beside the car to be loaded, or crane then lifts the hay to this platform, and a blower driven by a gasoline engine, blows the hay forcibly in to the car, packing it better than can be done with old fashioned hand fork.

GAVE UNTIL IT HURT. This Man Reneged And Says He's Down And Out.

A recent attempt to raise some money for a charitable purpose brought forth the following heart-breaking reply:

Dear Sirs—

I have your letter requesting a donation for what you consider a very worthy cause. I flatter myself that I have a spirit of loyalty and generosity. I have contributed to every object that has been presented to me but I have to decline helping your cause along for the following reasons:

I have been held up, held down, sandbagged, walked on, sat on, rolled over, flattened out, and squeezed; first by the United States Government for the Federal War Tax, the excess profits tax, the Liberty Loan Bonds and the bonds of matrimony; In New Jersey for the State Tax, the highway tax, the income tax, the auto tax, school tax, car tax, and syntax, and every society and organization the inventive mind of man can invent to extract what you may or may not possess, from the Society of John the Baptist, the G. A. R., the Women's Relief corps, the men's relief, the stomach relief, the wifeless, the husbandless, the childless, the conscriptless, the navy league, the Red Cross, the green cross, the double cross, and every other cross of all colors, and by the children's home, the Duran society and the hospital.

The victim as a rule cannot concentrate the mind (on war work.) The sight becomes impaired (can't see solicitors for war relief funds.) The ears become affected (can't hear the appeals of the world for food.)

Heart doesn't beat as it used to,

and in advanced stage that organs seem turned to stone.

DEADLY GERM DISCOVERED.

I'm Thru-enza is Latest Affliction among war Workers.—Symptoms Peculiar to This Disease Are Spreading Rapidly.

With the cessation of hostilities, a new epidemic has appeared. It is known as the "In Thru-enza" and very peculiar its ravages are confined to war workers only.

The initial symptom is a sense of lassitude—a feeling of "What's the use? It's all over. Why should I do war work?"

Steps are being taken to isolate the germ—also those who are carrying it. The epidemic is not wide-spread, nevertheless its advance must be stemmed.

"Cold Feet" is a marked symptom. Another indication of the presence of the germ is forgetfulness (that the boys are still over there.)

May Have Been Lincoln's.

Abraham Lincoln had the habit of carrying in his pocket four or five cents each with a hole so that they were sound on string. One of them he lost. Recently Mrs. J. L. Underwood of Newenstein, Pa., found such a cent bearing date 1818 in a field near Lincoln City, and she has refused $250 for it.

Why Hens Cackle.

Hens cackle when they lay for the same reason that the doing of anything which human beings are meant to do gives them pleasure. It is an instinctive action. For the same reason a dog wags his tail when it is pleased. Even humans, when pleased with themselves, want to sing, or whistle, or dance, or express their emotions in some way.

THE CLAIMS OF LITTLE NATIONS.

It is time for the American Indian to be heard at the peace table.

This gentleman has been a little neglected. The demands of the various races that claim the right to develop as independent nationalities have nearly all found expression. But how about the Injun?

It may be urged that he has fused with the American nation. True, but after subjugation. He accepted national extinction to escape physical extinction. His was the bitter choice of alternatives that follows conquest.

Well, then. It is so long since his subjugation that it is impractical to dig up his claims. They were buried with his hatchet. He is part of us, and to hand him back his independence—and the American continent, which is his by squatter's right—would be too violent a resolution into original elements.

Is it so long since he was vanquished? If this lapse of time kills his claim, then Ireland's is not only dead by petrified. The red man had his independence long after Ireland merged with Great Britain.

But Indians are savages. Are they? Our boasted civilization is not worth a bean if it left him where it found him. But it did not. Among the ranks of lawyers, physicians and other men of culture the red man holds his own with the pale-face. There are parts of Ireland where the inhabitants fight against education with the same persistency that the Indian shows in embracing it.

This is no tirade against Ireland—the birthplace of poets, must close the house for the time being.

It is hoped that when the Sixty-Sixth Congress convenes it will at once take up the consideration of the immigration bill which failed of passage or of a similar one. The present conditions demand it.

"FAITH, HOPE AND CHARITY—BUT THE GREATEST OF THESE IS CHARITY".

"I see before me, stretching mile after mile into the horizon, the bleak snow-mantled spaces of war stricken Eastern Europe. I see the long tragic row of carts and wagons drawn by emaciated beasts whose bones protrude through mangy skins. Upon these carts and wagons I see the tragic remnants of what was once a home. I see the old men walking by the side of the horse, grandfathers bowed with physical and mental suffering, and bearing upon their withered faces the hideous scars of agony and starvation. And I see the women huddled among the bundles and bags, shivering and sobbing, with their wasted eyes gazing out upon that God-forsaken endless freezing plain."

"But these are the fortunate ones. Behind them in a long procession trail those miserable creatures who have no carts, no horses, no bundles save those upon their back. A child passes, and I notice that he leaves behind him in the snow a bloody little foot print. Zero and soleless in Russia! And so, starving and staggering, and now and then falling in the snow drifts, never to rise again, they plod their hopeless way from the charred and desecrated ruins of the only homes they ever knew."

"In America today the theatre and cabarets, the dance halls and picture palaces are jammed to the doors. People crowd into the streets awaiting their turn to see their favorite actors and dramas. In hotels and restaurants the men who made millions because of the war are eating choice food prepared by high salaried experts paid to tickle the palate of the fastidious. Cocktails and artichokes; lobster and chicken à la King; french Pastry and cheese that costs a dollar a portion—

"And over in Eastern Europe a ragged freezing child is sobbing its little heart out for the want of a crust of bread."

France's stipulation that the German territory lying west of the Rhine be ceded to her seems to have been turned down by the peace conference. If so, the decision is a wise one.

It is not surprising that France, embittered for fifty years by the cession of Alsace-Lorraine to Germany after the war of 1871, should now seek a similar advantage. But the very fact that the Alsace-Lorraine question has been a constant menace to the peace of Europe shows the futility of such a step.

Race, religion, language and national customs form the natural boundaries of countries. Bismarck himself, shrewd diplomat and statesman that he was, said at the time of the cession of Alsace-Lorraine, "I do not like having so many Frenchmen in our house against their will." The splendor of the prize, however, overcame his better judgment.

Europe will not repeat this mistake. Placing any considerable amount of German territory under the government of France would be an error whose correction would be made some day in "blood and iron".

GOVERNOR'S

PROCLAMATION!

Governor A. O. Stanley has issued the following proclamation from his office:

TO THE PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY, GREETINGS:

Whereas, the receding armies of the Central Powers have left in their wake indescribable scenes of suffering and privation, torture, famine and death, our duty to the oppressed and enslaved people of the Old World is only half finished when the invader is driven from the borders of these suffering lands. It is a pleasant and a Christian duty to minister to the wants of those whom we have made free.

"The loan of freedom itself cannot save the starving from death, or the naked from the winds of winter, or house the homeless.

"Today upon the Eastern front there are untold millions of men, women, and children of the Jewish race who are in the dire need of the simplest necessities of life and unless they find succor here and find it without delay, these wretched sufferers will sink forever under the burdens of want and oppression, torture and outrage, which no tongue can tell or pen portray.

"To the aid of these victims of brutality the Kentucky Division of the American Jewish Relief Committee has determined to carry on a campaign for the raising of funds.

"Therefore, I, A. O. Stanley, Governor of Kentucky, issue this proclamation, setting aside April 7 to 11th, 1919, as Jewish War Relief Days in the State of Kentucky.

"IN TESTIMONY whereof, I have caused these letters to be made patent, and the seal of the Commonwealth to be hereunto affixed. Done at Frankfort, the twenty-fourth day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and in the one hundred and twenty-seventh year of the Commonwealth".

A. O. STANLEY,
Governor of Kentucky.

W. A. DICKERSON.

We certainly have all of us excellent reasons for trusting to Mr. Hoover's opinions in regard to food. And he has just informed us why American food should be shipped to Germany, taking the subject from nine different points of view.

Our winter garments and furnishings seem worn and heavy and dim, and we long for the fresh spring dress or coat, and trim new pumps or Oxfords, and the new hat that befits the season.

And when we look the house over we see the need of fresh curtains in this room, a new rug in that, a piece of new furniture elsewhere.

Remember that our local dealers have fresh and seasonable stocks to show you. You will be able to thoroughly examine your goods before purchasing, and will have the attendance of people whom you know, who understand your needs and tastes and will give you pleasant and courteous service.

Another reason is that Germany must have food in order to get back to production and have the wherewithal to pay indemnities.

Mr. Hoover does not neglect humanitarian reasons, and he also says that we have not been and are not fighting women and children.

AUTO RENTERS Must Pay Special Tax.

The Act approved February 24th, 1919, imposes a special tax on persons carrying on the business of operating or renting passenger automobiles for hire. This tax applies to every automobile owner or operator who accepts pay or who has at any time since January 1st, 1918, accepted pay for carrying passengers, or who does or has since January 1st, hired or rented a passenger automobile to any person.

The annual rate is $10.00 for each car having a seating capacity of more than two and not more than seven, and $20.00 for each car having a seating capacity of more than seven. The law became effective January 1st, 1919, and those who did business in that month must pay $5.00 or $10.00 for each car according to seating capacity. Those who began business in February must pay $4.17 or $8.34; in March $3.33 or $6.68; in April, $2.50 or $5.00; in May $1.67 or $3.33 and in June 84 cents or $1.68 according to seating capacity. Beginning July 1st tax must be paid for a full year to the following June 30.

Interested parties should apply to Collector John W. Hughes at Danville.

Ky., for application blanks so that they may escape the penalty for delinquency which will accrue when his force begins a census of the district, which will be within the next few days.

The new law also imposes a tax of five per cent on the amount for each manufactured and sold in this district, on and after February 25th.

The tax on sales made from February 25th to 28th inclusive must be reported and paid within the month of March. The tax on sales in subsequent months must be reported and paid in the month following that in which the sales were made.

Alfalfa Had Hard Fight

Alfalfa has had a long hard fight to gain a place on the American farm. In 1798 George Washington had quite a field of alfalfa at Mt. Vernon. His success in growing "Lucerne," as he called it in his dairy, was not great because his soil was deficient in lime.

The growing of this wonderful legume has increased tremendously in Kentucky in the past twenty years. Circular No. 70, "Alfalfa" has the following to say concerning the acreage in this State.

"In 1890 the census report gave 808 acres of alfalfa for Kentucky. In 1899 the acreage was 20,229. Later statistics for the State are not available; but there has been a very large increase since that time. Especially is this true for the limestone lands of northern Kentucky in the region of Pendleton County where sweet clover is prepared the way for alfalfa. In 1915 there were 10,000 acres reported for the county."

"The new circular gives the very latest information concerning the growing and harvesting of this most valuable hay crop. The farmer, who is thinking of sowing some alfalfa in the near future, should write at once to the College of Agriculture at Lexington and ask for Circular No. 70.

DOORS CLOSED
TO HUN TRADE*Importers of German Specialties Warned
They Are Subject To Prosecution By Enemy Trade Act.

WASHINGTON.—Germany hopes of reconquering Americans markets received another blow last week.

Users of dyes, chemicals, fertilizers and other products originated by German science were notified by the Alien Property Custodian that imports from Germany hereafter would be subject to prosecution as infringement of patents licensed under the trading with the enemy act for use by American manufacturers.

Possibility of a dumping of great surplus stocks which Germans was reported to have accumulated with the intention of under selling and perhaps stifling the infant American industries in the same lines thus has been blocked effectively before shipments could begin.

Government officials regarded the decision as far-reaching importance to business in this country.

Several hundred patents registered in this country by Germans, the most important covering the manufacture of dyes and drugs, for which this country has been virtually dependent on Germany, have been licensed for use by Americans and new names substituted for the foreign designations to make the industries more thoroughly American. The law provides a fixed compensation to the originator of the patent.

While the alien property custodian's opinion did not touch on copy-right, which also came under his jurisdiction, it was said informally that the same principle would apply on several German-owned opera and various scientific works which have been licensed for production and publication in the United States.

City And Town Organizations.

Under the direction of the State Campaign organization and the district chairmen and assistants, the campaign to raise $208,000 in Kentucky during the week of April 7-11 for the relief of Jewish sufferers in the war stricken districts of Eastern Europe, is being carried into the smallest civic units through organizations in cities and towns.

Cities already organized with their chairmen are Louisville—Harry Bloom, Lexington—M. Kaufman, Danville—Hyman Pushin, Elizabethtown—Louis Goldsoamer, assistant, D. M. Cooper; Covington—Nathan Rosenberg, Paducah—Louis Rubel and W. F. Bradshaw, Jr., Bowling Green—Sam Pushin, Princeton—R. M. Pool, Winchester—Lee Brunfield and Judge J. N. Benton, Mt. Sterling—Sol Newmeyer, Paris—William Shire and I. L. Price, Richmond—Rev. O. O. Green, who is also Chairman for Madison County, Versailles, A. L. Greenbaum, Georgetown—Mr. and Mrs. Joe Murks, Hopkinsville—H. M. Frankel, chairman and George W. Crenshaw, Vice Chairman, Frankfort—Charles F. Strassner.

The organization is being rapidly pushed in other cities and towns in all sections of the State.

From Coffin To Frying Pan.

At the Cluny Museum in Paris is a very interesting relic. On day a few years ago, the curator of the museum happened to visit a small restaurant in the suburb of Saint Denis, where a single apartment served as both dining room and kitchen. While waiting to be served, the curator noticed a frying pan of unusual appearance hanging on the wall. He took it down, and with a magnifying glass was able to make out part of an inscription which interested him so greatly that he bought the cooking utensil. When carefully cleaned the pan was found to bear the arms of France and Navarre surrounded by the choin of St. Louis and the cord of the order of Saint Esprit. It also contained the following inscription: "Here lies the magnificent Prince, King Louis XIV, King of France and Navarre. Requiescat in pace." It was indeed the plate that had been fastened to the coffin of Louis XIV. When the burial-vaults of the royal family in the cathedral at Saint Denis were rifled by the populace in 1793, it had been wrenching from the coffin. So little apparently was it esteemed by its possessor that it was fitted with a handle and turned into a frying pan. The handle has been removed.

There is no legal and formal slavery in any Christian country, it survives in a mild form in most Mohammedan countries. The postage system of Latin American countries is not upon a different theory, but rests upon a different theory. Dream Has Physical Basis.

The "falling from a height" dream is a physical basis, for scientists have shown that this form of nightmare invariably occurs during the first 15 minutes after falling asleep. It is suggested by the general muscular relaxation that takes place when we settle down. A change of position of even a fraction of an inch, or the least crinkling of the muscles, is sufficient to convey the idea of a fall to the brain.

METHODISTS CHANGE DATE

CAMPAIGN FOR $35,000,000 IN M. E.
CHURCH, SOUTH, CENTENARY DRIVE WILL BE HELD
MAY 18-25.

The date for the Methodist Centenary financial campaign has changed from April 27-May 4 to May 18-25, official announcement of which is being made throughout the length and breadth of Methodism to day. Several weeks ago it was found necessary to change the April date in order not to interfere with the Government plans for the forthcoming Victory Loan Drive. The selection of another date has been held in abeyance pending the decision from Washington which was forwarded headquarters of the M. E. Church, South, recently.

The change in this date is of wide import in all Methodists who are, at this time, lining up plans of definite action regarding their part as individuals in the campaign. Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, Secretary of the Centenary Commission, stated today that he and other Centenary workers at headquarters have, through Secretary Carter Glass, pledged the loyal support of all Southern Methodists to the government at this crucial hour and that in setting May 18-25 as a date for the Centenary drive, he knows he will have the immediate and hearty cooperation of all conference secretaries, district field representatives and all workers connected with the campaign.

The Methodist Centenary financial campaign is the largest religious campaign undertaken in the history of the world. One hundred and fifteen million dollars is the goal set—Southern Methodists pledging themselves to raise thirty-five million of that sum.

CHINA HAS A VERY IMPORTANT ROLE

PRACTICALLY ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND COOLIES SENT TO FRANCE.

What optimist a generation ago would have thought that backward China would have a hand in the settlement of a world war? But China is having a very important role in the great war that is just being brought to a close. Not as soldiers—fighting men—but as laborers behind the front line trenches. And just so many allied troops have been released for other duties. Practically one hundred and fifty thousand of these coolies have been transported by way of the Suez to France. This work has been done under the direction of the British Government and Church Missionaries. Among these missionaries are many of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, which is just finishing the details of its campaign May 18-25 to secure $35,000,000 for further work of the kind that is being done in France and other places.

BANDING TOGETHER TO SPREAD GOSPEL

Nashville, Tenn.—One hundred and forty thousand Southern Methodists have signified their determination to pray for the success of the missionary work of the M. E. Church, South, and for the spread of Christianity throughout the world. These people have not only decided to do this, but have banded together in a league known as the Fellowship of Intercession, each signing a small card which it is thought will make the cause for which they pray more definite in the minds of the signers of the cards.

Dr. S. A. Neblett, secretary of the Department of Intercession of the denomination, stated to a reporter that the way in which the prayer cards were coming in was an inspiration. From two thousand to five thousand of these are opened in the mail every morning, the number of 140,000 representing the complete total up to date.

FIVE HUNDRED WOMEN WANTED

Nashville, Tenn.—Five hundred young women are wanted at once by the Women's Missionary Council of the M. E. Church, South. They are wanted for service and missionaries of the church in both the home and foreign fields and the best type of womanhood is asked for. Women to whom the desire to serve has come very keenly, women whom the spirit of the hour has gripped earnestly, this is the type with whom the church wishes to make connection for various forms of missionary endeavor.

The particular forms of missionary work open to the young women of the South are in the medical, evangelistic and educational departments in the mission fields. One hundred and fifty are wanted as evangelists and deaconesses; two hundred and fifty are wanted as teachers and one hundred are wanted as doctors and nurses. The call has particularly gone out for young women of college education in order that they may be able to grasp quickly the leadership in the work which the church needs.

The calling of these young women is made possible through the Centenary of the church which is being observed this year. A fund of $35,000,000 will be raised soon, and this money will make possible the sending of many missionaries to Africa, Japan, China, Brazil, Mexico, Cuba, Korea and in the home field.

QUESTIONNAIRE

ANSWERS WHICH WILL SOLVE PERPLEXING PROBLEMS OF THIS RECONSTRUCTION ERA.

Query—The government has launched an educational campaign to encourage building in order to put more men to work. Would not a similar movement to show how the old structures can be best and most economically repaired and made good as new also help?

Answer—It is learned that such a plan is in effect and is linked directly with the Washington propaganda.

Industry must be turned back from works of war to the ways of peace. Employment must be found. In the meanwhile, for those whose occupation has been interrupted. There is no real surplus of labor in the United States. Rather there is a shortage, which would be acute if normal conditions were already restored, and one step towards restoring them will come with resumption of repair work.

Government restrictions, imposed by the necessities of the war program, have for many months past retarded or altogether prevented construction, improvement and repair. These restrictions are now off, and there is scarcely a town, a city, a factory, a dwelling or a farm that does not reveal an urgent need for prompt attention. Nothing delays such instant action except the feeling that prices are high for the time being and may be lower.

That is not logical. No matter what it costs to repair, the cost is less than the cost of neglect. No matter what the cost of paint, the wind and the weather will collect a higher bill in deterioration and decay.

Query—What do you think as an investment, aside from the investment it is? Does it really PAY to paint a home, especially, say, every three or four years?

Answer—Good paint properly applied when needed is the main thing in making a house last long and well. A house worth $2,500 can be painted at a cost of about $125. In 20 years that house will need about 16 paintings, the total cost of which will be $1,920. Left without paint, such a house would fall into complete ruin in 30 years. So taking 20 years as a basis for our figures we find that with paint a home will last that time in good condition and will cost, plus paint, $1,375. Without paint the house would have to be rebuilt at the end of 30 years and would be ready for another complete renovation when the sixtieth year arrived. Cost, without paint, $3,000 for a home ready to fall to pieces. Does regular painting pay? As the old Dutch adage says:

"PAINT PAYS FOR ITSELF."

Query—I have a quantity of old paint on hand. Can I use it for the first coat in repainting my barn?

Answer—On no account should old paint which has become fat be used for priming either old or new work. Old paint in that condition is best used on a fence, brickwork or timber. If you prime your barn sufficiently to paint it, do it the justice of a good job.

One of the best CLYDESDALE stallions in Kentucky will make the season of 1919 at my barn at the low price of $10.00 TO INSURE A LIVING COLT.

This is the kind to breed to for mule mares and farm horses. Prince Albert is one of the best types I ever saw and his colts show for themselves.

At the same time and place will stand my six year old jack

JOHN GRAY

AT $8.00 TO INSURE A LIVING COLT.

John Gray is fifteen hands high, good bone and ear and considered one of the best Jacks in this neighborhood. He is really bred being by Long Tom, he by William Todd's big Jack, by Mormaduke. 1st dam by Billy Breckinridge, he by Bourbon Chief, 2nd. Dam by Bourbon Chief.

Care taken to prevent accidents but not responsible should any occur. Lien retained on all foals until season is paid. Season is due when mare is traded or parted with, or bred to another horse or Jack.

MAN WHO SAW WAR ON FOUR FRONTS ESCAPES DEATH
MANY TIMES WHILE SERV-ING SOLDIERS.

Chicago.—More than 700 Y. M. C. A. workers are serving with the soldiers of the American expeditionary force in the front lines during the last months of the war.

Frank M. Van Epps, seriously wounded while serving as a Y. M. C. A. worker in the Argonne, told of some of his experiences in a talk at the Y. M. C. A. college here.

On the way to France last April on the Orenzo, Van Epps and 56 other "Y" men narrowly escaped drowning when the ship was torpedoed by a German submarine.

Van Epps was divisional secretary of the Y. M. C. A. outfit. He worked with the Fifth division until the armistice was signed. He was dressed up in a doughboy's uniform when he arrived here. A limb and a kitbag hung over his shoulder containing what is left of his equipment; complete his contents of more than six months' service overseas.

Van Epps saw the war on four fronts in France and Alsace, serving in the first-line trenches on two of them. When the Orenzo was torpedoed on April 29, 60 miles off the coast of Wales 150 tons "got" two out of a convoy of seven steamships. The Orenzo went down in 12 minutes after she was struck, and Van Epps and other "Y" men lost all their baggage. They were picked up by a torpedoed destroyer and landed at Holyhead, Wales.

In Front Line.

In southern and middle Alsace, Van Epps was in the first-line trenches and at St. Mihiel, when the dove opened, he became a stretcher bearer after his supplies ran out. Getting word to shift to the Argonne, he traveled all night by train, on trucks and auto and spent the next three weeks sleeping in shell holes and trenches when he was not at work.

At Maddedon farm, on October 18, Van Epps and Thomas F. Hadley of Iowa, another Y. M. C. A. man, set up shop in an old barn. All but three of the twenty-five "Y" workers went back to get supplies. The barn had been under shell fire for several days, but Van Epps and Hadley decided it was good enough to sleep in. They built a bed of boxes of jam, with a tub of chewing tobacco for a pillow and lay down.

Half a mile back, an American battery was hammering the Germans, and two German airplanes came over looking for the position. They let go two bombs which landed on each side of the barn. Soon came a third, which struck the roof, bringing down a mass of rafters and beams and scattering shrapnel. A splinter was driven through the calf of one of Hadley's legs and a piece of shell tore through both of Van Epps' thighs.

After dressing stations and field hospitals had finished with them they spent half a day in an ambulance and then were put aboard a French hospital train, where they remained another two days. One of these days was Sunday, so Van Epps, at the suggestion of some of the doughboys, "put on" a service, conducting it propped up in his stretcher.

Soldiers to Study.

Paris.—With the arrival of General Rees from Washington on detail from the war department to take charge of the army educational work, progress has been rapid along the lines laid down in the program submitted by the Y. M. C. A. army educational commission. Text books required to satisfy the demands of the men for instruction are coming overseas rapidly, according to Prof. John Reskin of Columbia University, chairman of the "Y" commission; post schools are starting up at the rate of 40 to a division and groups of officers and men are being absorbed by French and British universities to the limit of their capacity.

General Praises Y. M. C. A.

Paris.—There are some fools in the Y. M. C. A., according to Brig. Gen. J. P. O'Neill of the Ninety-first division. "Our Y. M. C. A. is everything to be desired," said the general. "Among the employees are some fools. One of them was such a fool that he would not stay away from the front line, and he got so tied up with Boche shells and other projectiles that we were forced to recommend him for a Distinguished Service Cross. That is a sample of the men you have sent to us. Please keep this work up and whether I am commanding this division or not, the things that you have done will make a lasting impression upon it."

Honor "Y" Worker in Russia.

News that the general commanding the American and allied expedition in northern Russia had recommended Howard H. Merrill of New York, a Y. M. C. A. worker, for suitable recognition of his cool behavior during a surprise attack on the forces he was serving, is conveyed in a delayed cablegram received at the Y. M. C. A. national war work council offices.

Plan Educational Courses.

English universities are preparing to welcome the American officers and men designated to take collegiate, scientific or post-graduate courses there in accordance with the scheme of the army educational commission conducted by the United States army and the American Y. M. C. A.

Jefferson Studied Plows

Thomas Jefferson evidently studied agriculture quite carefully. In writing to Mr. Sylvester in July 1808, he had the following to say concerning a plow which had been sent him by the Society of the Seine.

"I have just received information that a plough addressed to me has arrived in New York. I shall with great pleasure attend to the construction and transmission to the Society of a plough with my mould-board. This is the only part of that useful instrument to which I pay any particular attention. But knowing how much the perfection of the plough must depend, 1st, on the line of traction; 2nd, on the direction of the share; 3rd, on the angle of the wing; 4th, on the form of the mould-board; and persuaded that I shall find the three first advantages eminently exemplified in that which the Society sends me, I am anxious to see combined with these a mould-board of my form, in the hope it will still advance the perfection of that machine."

We Must Keep Faith.

The American people were unitedly and earnestly back of Uncle Sam in the world war. They proved it at every point. They imposed no restrictions. They offered freely their lives, their services, their money. All in a degree unprecedented in American history. No demand was refused.

From every part of the country the response was immediate, forcible. No section shrank in any respect. Here and there there were individual slackers, but the cases were isolated, indifferently few. We were in effect unanimous.

America backed her ideals, her ambitions; stood for her rights, her honor, all that her forefathers had fought for and won.

And as we fought so must we finish.

We must keep faith with Uncle Sam, with the world at large, with the boys who won over there, with American welfare that is even yet at stake.

For few of us will care to stand before these returned soldier boys and confess that our only interest was in coming out of the scrimmage on top. That our interest in them ended when they won. That now that they're back it's up to them to shift for themselves. That our responsibility is ended.

We own a larger debt to America a duty that is just as intent on ourselves and our property. For America's future is keenly dependent upon the accomplishments of our industry and commercial enterprise within the next few years.

And upon conditions industrially and commercially depends the individual welfare of some 2,500,000 soldiers, returned or soon to return, who fought our battles and now must return to the ordinary business of life.

Both you and your country owe every one of these men a personal debt.

Keep faith with them. Help pay that debt. Help Uncle Sam pay it.

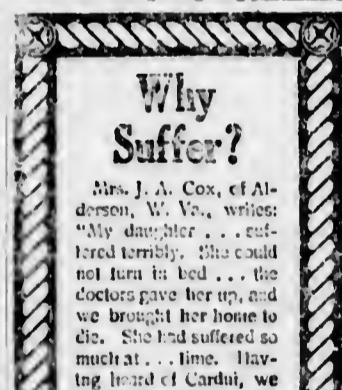

Much can be done with the proceeds of the Victory Liberty Loan.

And if we take the loan Uncle Sam will do the rest.

We can take it if we will. It's up to us.

Up to us to keep the faith.

Our philosopher says: Every wash an' gully on your farm, that ain't stopped, tells the folks that pass on the road you're a poor farmer.

U. S. FIGHTING MEN WANTED A CHURCH

REPORT OF Y. M. C. A. IN CENTRAL MILITARY DEPARTMENT CONTAINS INTERESTING INFORMATION.

Chillicothe.—Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors go to church. Figures showing attendance at religious services in Y. M. C. A. huts in military camps of the central department prove it.

Attendance at the religious meetings and Bible classes held in the huts between May 1, 1917, and December 31, 1918, was more than 5,280,000.

A. H. Lichty, executive secretary of the central department of the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A., has issued a report covering statistics of the Y. M. C. A. activities in the 131 huts in central department camps. Mr. Lichty is in command of nearly 1,000 workers. Before coming to Chillicothe for war work he was secretary of the Ohio State Y. M. C. A. During his administration more than 2,500 men and women have been recruited in the 14 central states for overseas service with the Y. M. C. A.

The number of letters written in huts in the 33 military camps totaled 12,798,410. The total attendance was 60,621,806.

Movies were the most popular feature of the "Y" service in the camps. The attendance at the 12,496 motion picture shows was 5,070,903, an average of more than 400.

The "Y" educational features were popular. In the 20 months 7,570 lectures were heard by 2,202,810 soldiers and sailors. The 68,272 classes of various kinds drew 1,394,418 and the science and art clubs 62,530. For the American Library association the "Y" passed out 1,423,608 books.

Athletics Popular.

The number of participants in athletic contests under the direction of the "Y" was greater than the number of spectators. There were 5,398,259 in the contests and 4,437,017 "looking on."

The 902 workers in the 181 huts in the army and navy camps and the 18-S. A. T. C. units passed out to American fighting men 510,432 Scriptures. There were 282,229 personal interviews on the subject of religion; 52,754 decisions to accept the Christian faith and 117,470 signed the "war roll" pledging themselves to a Christian life.

The 17,361 entertainments not including movies, drew 6,751,616 soldiers and sailors.

The fighting men were thrifty. In the period covered by the report they sent home for the enlisted men $3,900,025 in money orders.

"Y" to Open Clubs for Troops.

At the request of the French minister of marines the Y. M. C. A. is planning the establishment of clubs for American and French troops in Toulose and in the suburbs of that city.

Y. M. C. A. NO LONGER TO MAINTAIN ARMY
POST EXCHANGES.

Paris.—The American Y. M. C. A., at its own request, has been relieved of its work of maintaining the post exchanges with the American army. Correspondence exchanged between General Pershing and E. C. Carter, in charge of Y. M. C. A. with the army, shows the reason for this arrangement was that the Y. M. C. A. now has "increased responsibilities in promoting educational, athletic and entertainment activities in the American expeditionary forces," thus placing a rapidly increasing burden on its personnel.

General Pershing in a letter to Mr. Carter approving the change, expressed his thanks "for the very valuable services and assistance which the Y. M. C. A. has rendered to the American expeditionary force in handling these exchanges. General Pershing added:

"Handicapped by the shortage of tonnage and land transportation, the Y. M. C. A. has by extra exertion served the army better than could have been expected, and you may be assured that its aid has been a large factor in the final great accomplishments of the American army."

SPRING, HARVEST SEASON OF THE SHEEP RAISER, DEMANDS ATTENTION TO ANIMALS

Member of a Boys' Sheep Club With His Thriving Flock.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Many new flocks of sheep were established in the farming states last year, and this spring their owners will for the first time experience the lambing and shearing season. Spring, which is the lambing and shearing season, is the harvest period of the sheep raiser, say specialists of the United States department of agriculture, and the size and quality of these crops determine the profits. At this time extra attention should be given to the ewes and lambs. In no other way can time be used to better advantage on the farm.

If the ewes have not been properly fed and cured for during the fall and winter, the crops of lambs and wool can be neither large nor of high quality. It is the weak, thin ewes that require most attention in the lambing season, though previous mistakes cannot be remedied at that time. On the other hand, failure to be constantly nearby while the lambs are arriving may mean the loss of only in 80 or 90 per cent crop of lambs where a 125 per cent increase—considering that many ewes will have twins—can readily be realized from good shepherding of flocks of mutton quality.

Advantages of Early Lambing.

In many sections it is most profitable to have lambs arrive in March or even earlier. One important advantage of this plan is that other work is then less urgent and full attention can be given to the ewes and the new arrivals. Another advantage gained by early lambing is that the lambs can be made sufficiently heavy and fat to market in June or July. Early marketing usually means higher prices, and it is especially desirable because the lambs are disposed of before the time of greater danger of injury by internal parasites. The ewe lambs are stronger than those which arrived later in the season and are therefore kept for the breeding flock. They are less suscep-

EXCELLENT PLAN TO HARVEST WOOL CROP.

Avoid Chilling Ewes by Shearing on a Warm Day.

Hand-Power Machines Are Most Economical for Flocks of Less Than Fifty Head—Paper Twine Is Most Satisfactory.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

Sheep shearing is usually done in the spring after the lambing season. The work should be performed on a warm day, so that the ewes may not become chilled. For flocks of less than fifty head, hand-power machines are the most economical. These machines are more rapid, produce smoother work, injure the sheep less, are more easily handled, and result in a larger crop than where hand shears are used.

After the fleece has been removed all tags and dirt should be cleaned out of it and it should be rolled up not too tightly, the skin side out, and tied with paper twine. The value of the wool crop is often impaired by the use of binder twine in tying up fleeces. Anything is superior to binder twine, and paper twine is most satisfactory. Holes for tying fleeces are not necessary; in fact wool shows better if not tied too tightly.

Farmers in New York and other states have profited largely by co-operative marketing of their wool. Under the direction of the county agent the clips are assembled, graded, and sold in large quantities at the prices prevailing at the principal markets. In the past these prices were materially higher than the "general" local prices obtained.

HOG "AUCTION" SALES BEST

Praise of New Method Sung These Days by California Marketing Association.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The pulses of the hog auction are sung these days by the California Farm Bureau Marketing association, which comprises the marketing department of the farm bureaus in King, Tulare and Kern counties. The prices are said to be much better than when hogs are sold by the old method. The auction sales have also brought the farmers the importance of raising better hogs, as they have seen that packers give grain-fattened hogs the preference over those fattened on skimmed milk and alfalfa pasture alone.

The Black Diamond.
Although white diamonds come directly from the Transvaal, the black diamond is found in its greatest purity in Brazil and especially in the Province of Bahia. For its finest specimens so far discovered a price of $20, 000 per carat paid—quite insignificant when compared with prices paid for white diamonds.

Her Excuse a Good One.
There was invited to a party, 16 years old, a girl mentioned her not to begin her goodies until all around the table had been helped. Carrie was excused with the first helping to her name. In a few moments she said:
"Excuse me for eating my ice cream before it melts. I enjoy it best while it is frozen."

Species of Fern.
The Island of Mauritius, less than one-third the area of Delaware, has 235 native species of fern; Java, a little larger than New York, has 460, while Brazil contains 287. All Europe furnishes but sixty-seven species, the arctic zone, 20; North America, north of Mexico, has about 175 native species.

Birds Not Man's Enemies.
It is a fact that if it were not for the bird life we would starve to death.
The great natural enemy of man is any form that will destroy his food stocks. Every field is the home of multitudes of insects, and agricultural experts will verify the fact that each year millions of dollars' worth of crops are destroyed by insects. And the birds are the natural enemies of the insect pest.

Got Fat on Poor Food.
A recruit at one of the southern camps wrote a long letter home, which he started by telling how rotten the food was, and that he didn't get enough to eat. Near the end of the letter, about page fifteen, he told the folks how fat he was getting, having gained ten pounds in about a month.

Apropos Of Bohemian Oats.

With the average farmer's bankroll just a little fatter than it has been in years he is the shining mark just now for the fake security salesman, the stock company promoter, the multitudinous sharper.

All of which recalls the famous incident of the Bohemian oats.

Ohio farmers of the older generation will recall it instantly. Some of them have fallen for it as they may be doing even now with these later offerings.

Bohemian oats were represented as world beaters for quality and prolific production. Especially suited for oat meals and rolled oats, which then were just coming into popularity as breakfast foods.

But the trouble was, according to the sharpers, there was no supply.

So they sold seed oats to the farmers at $10. a bushel and agreed to buy their entire crop at harvest time at the same price.

And the farmers fell for it. Bought oats and planted acres of them.

But when harvest time came the sharpener failed to show up. And the farmers found they had raised a very ordinary grade of oats which they might have bought on the market for seeding purposes at 40 cents a bushel.

Most of the stocks being offered to the farmer today are in a purr with the Bohemian oats.

The one always dependable purchase is a government bond.

And shortly the Victory Liberty
Loan will offer you a safe investment.

When harvest time comes round it always produces. There is no defaulting of payment. No risk. No gamble. The business behind it is established and wholly solvent. And the earning it insures is eminently fair.

Don't sink your money in modernized Bohemian oats.

The old fashioned proved standbys are best.

FEEL MISERABLE FROM THAT COLD?

Colds and coughs are quickly relieved by Dr. King's New Discovery

Nobody should feel "perfectly miserable" from a cold, cough or bronchial attack for very long. For it takes only a little while to relieve it and get back on the road to recovery when Dr.
King's New Discovery is faithfully used.

It soon loosens the phlegm, relieves irritation, soothes the parched, sore throat, brings comfort.

Half a century old and more popular today than ever. At all druggists.

Make Your Bowels Behave

Make them function with gratifying precision. If regulation of the diet

TELL IT TO HIM.

Probably you are worrying about just what excuse you are going to offer the Victory Liberty Loan salesman this campaign in refusing to give him your subscription. Maybe you have several excuses but simply can't not make up your mind which of them is best.

Don't let it worry you for an instant.

The country is full of soldiers just back from the front. Thousands of them are coming back every week.
Some of them are pretty well shot up, suffering from shell shock, weak lung-ed from having been gassed, still shaky from trench fever, or minus an arm or a leg or an eye.

They know what this war game was. They saw something of what the Hun did for France and Belgium.
They have something of an idea what he would have tried to do for America had he ever got over here.

And they would like to know,
doubtless, just why any loyal American will refuse to subscribe to the Victory Liberty Loan, knowing that the American soldier wrote the death warrant for Prussianism and how he fared in doing it.

This armless, or legless, or sightless or lungless or nerveless returned veteran will be glad to listen to your excuse.

Hunt him up and tell it to him.
Try all of them on him.

If you can convince him you should have no trouble with the salesman.

And if you escape with a whole skin you'll subscribe to the loan.

Believe me, boy, you'll enrage him.

FIFTH LOAN 'STUNTS' WILL FEATURE TANKS, TRAINS AND AVIATORS

TROPHY EXHIBITS WHICH WERE SO POPULAR IN FOURTH DRIVE COMING AGAIN.

ON'T stow it away your rattles and horns and noise-makers. The Victory Loan is going to bring with it just
as many occasions
as any of the foregoing drives.

The trophy trains bigger, betterequipped and scheduled for longer times in each town—are to tour the district again. One of them will stop in your town or near enough to it so that you can get to it.

Air circuses will perform over a great many of the cities and among the planes to take part are a number of German Fokkers.

And last of all there will be a fleet of tanks. These tanks, regulation whippets, will be routed over the district singly so that practically all of the territory will be covered. The War Department is furnishing the tanks and tank crews and there are no tanks which these mighty drawlers cannot perform under the guidance of the fearless drivers who will take them out.

Music? Yes, indeed. There will be two or three bands on tour in the district. Arrangements have been made for service bands from the army and the navy.

Civilians to Get Medals for Work In Victory Loan

If one of these is awarded to you will your conscience be clear?

Every volunteer Liberty Loan worker who participates in the campaign for the sale of the Victory Liberty Loan, which is to begin April 21,
will be given a medal made from one of the German cannon captured by the Yanks in the Chateau Thierry drive.

The medal will be about the size
of a half dollar.
The front side of
it, depicted in the accompanying cut,
will bear the inscription "Victory Liberty Loan" and a reproduction of the Treasury Department building at Washington.

The reverse side will be engraved the government's acknowledgment of the service performed and a space will be left so that the recipient may have his or her name engraved.

The medal will be the first of its kind ever distributed by the government to civilians. The plan was devised upon after an almost unanimous demand had been received from workers over the country for some permanent souvenir of their patriotic operation.

Several German cannon, brought over with returning Yanks, have been melted, rolled and are being stamped out to adorn the lapsels of the civilian army.

Let's!

Now guns are rusting.
No more the legions smash,
The weed springs in the dugout,
The battle fire is ash.
So hats off to the doughboy,
And hats off to the gob.
The Victory Loan is coming,
Let's finish up the job!

for at once, attention being directed to the penalties attached for failure to do so.

ABANDONED WESTERN OIL FIELDS FOR RICHER PROMISE IN ZINC ORE

Organization of the Louisville Mansfield Zinc & Lead Syndicate Reveals Business Romance

Dr. T. T. Beeler, Dentist, Then Oil Magnate, Sold Interest in 157 Wells for Bigger Prospects.

Louisville, Ky.—How a business romance, blossoming in the bosom of Mother Earth, led the way to a dream of affluence that is fast materializing, is brought out in the organization here of the Louisville Lead & Zinc Syndicate Company, a corporation the stock of which rapidly is becoming the property of the public. That it is not a company of the oil fields will be a matter of surprise to those who look largely to the oil well as the fountain of business romance.

Formation of the Louisville Mansfield Lead & Zinc Syndicate follows closely upon organization of the Kentucky Mansfield Lead & Zinc Syndicate, a corporation already in operation and dividend-paying basis, but the romance goes back eleven years to the oil fields of the west and to a dentist's chair in a small Oklahoma town.

In a suite of offices in the Starks Building a small keen-eyed man, trying to make every minute yield its quota of result of an atmosphere of high pressure, knows all about the romance, for he had lived it. He is Dr. T. T. Beeler, vice president of the new LOUISVILLE MANSFIELD LEAD & ZINC SYNDICATE. He is the man who, eleven years ago, while a practicing dentist in an Oklahoma town, became interested in western oil development. With holdings in 67 oil wells after he had become successful in that game, Dr. Beeler had while opportunities to observe the possibilities and vagueness of that business, or game, as it may rightly be called. He saw men carried up into the realm of sudden riches, he saw hopes fulfilled beyond their own limits. But he saw the other side, too, of the oil game. Its uncertainty, and the ruin that its uncertainty brought to some.

One day Dr. Beeler heard about the strike made in the famous Joplin zinc ore district. He began studying the properties of the new found opportunity. He reflected that in the oil business, when a well was drilled, mortal could with certainty tell which of four things would be the result—oil, water, gas or a hole in the ground. He reflected that an oil well, drilled from 1,000 to 3,300 feet in the ground, cost from $8,000 to $10,000 before its real promise was known. And then he compared this with data he had gathered about the mining industry, in which nature's store of wealth lies comparatively close to the surface and covers great areas, necessitating, in proportion, a small initial outlay. He applied this comparison particularly to what he had heard about the Mansfield fields.

Dr. Beeler was not long in making up his mind. It was two years ago in Kansas City that the project, which is now being carried to every state in the Union, had its inception. Dr. Beeler had selected a partner, severed his connections with the oil fields, and had employed an agent, versed in the technique of such an undertaking, to investigate opportunities in the Joplin district.

But it was by chance that the real opportunity was found. One day, when Dr. Beeler's embassy was fruitlessly knocking with people in the field to which prospectors were already swarming, an old man called him aside.

"If you want to see an unworked locality, I want to show you something," said the old man.

As the result of the investigation and assaying which followed, Dr. Beeler, his partner and several notaries, in all of the public automobiles the nearby town afforded, set out in the late afternoon in what is now the Mansfield district. The chauffeurs and the notaries and all others with whom the party came in contact were bound to secrecy. There were neither automobiles nor notaries available for other possible prospectors.

That was October 10, 1917. In a day or so, the prospectors had secured leases on 18,000 acres of land rich in ore, and had laid the foundation of the project which is now becoming ne-wide. They know that by taking one or two slight excavations at given points over a given area, the findings of an expert assayer geologist would give them the exact extent of wealth which the establishment of methods would produce. Unlike the mere promise of an oil well, the potentialities of a zinc field could be scientifically established. Their reports were sent out from A. Arnold, State geologist of Missouri, and Joseph Metcalf, a London mineralogist and engineer, and showed that tests had proved the veracity of the prospectors.

These geological reports bear out to a large extent theory which later became current in the origin of the rich metal deposits around Mansfield, Mo. According to this theory, Mansfield is one of the best places in the state to find a precious metal, valuable. The prospectors found themselves in Kentucky, while the scattered derricks are found as the dunes become more numerous.

Once Dr. Beeler had rights to the land, Dr. Beeler's son became known and so did the oil well. It was a big blow for the dentist. But all of the prospectors had the plenty lead him to believe that he had a right to be ready to liquidate.

The cause of operation call originated for the organization of local companies and a lot of the forty-five oil wells in the corporation will have private concessions around the reserved portion of the leases which the parent corporation will hold and which will be enhanced in value with the growing activity surrounding it.

The Kentucky Mansfield Lead & Zinc Syndicate was incorporated January 13, 1918. Its capital stock of $500,000 was quickly sold out, on November 1 it took its first mill, which soon began operations on the ground, and on February 1 a 2% dividend for January was paid stockholders, following which was paid a 3% dividend for February.

The Kentucky syndicate is made up almost entirely of Kentucky men. Dr. T. M. Crutcher of Louisville, head of the Louisville Dental Laboratory, president, and N. C. Cureton is secretary. W. E. Newbold, of Louisville, is treasurer. Edward J. McFernott, of Louisville, is the corporation's attorney. Dr. Beeler is one of the directors, as is also Dr. Charles A. Funk.

The officers of the LOUISVILLE MANSFIELD LEAD & ZINC SYNDICATE, which was formed February 21, 1918, are the same as those of the Kentucky syndicate except that Dr. Beeler is vice president and J. C. Mahon is a director. Over half of the capital stock of $500,000 already has been sold. Officers of the company are at 409 Starks Bldg., Louisville.

The stock is being put out at $100 per share.

The company's property is in the heart of the Ozark Mountains, Wright County, Mo. One forty-acre tract is located between two miles of those of the Kentucky syndicate, known as the "Pioneer Mill," and of W. G. Lightwell, of Louisville, known as the "Red Mill." This tract is considered one of the best in the district although three other forty-acre tracts are well located and partly leased.

So, as the new LOUISVILLE MANSFIELD LEAD & ZINC SYNDICATE starts its wheels, a whirling business routine of the poor dentist is carried farther along its way to the pocket books and bank accounts of shrewd investors the country over.

Our philosopher says: Lots of times a pasture is piece of land that won't grow grass, with a pretty good fence around it.

Rotarians Honor

Youths.

The biggest day in Owenton, at least from the standpoint of the farm boys and girls, was March 12th, 1919. Forty-five club members were entertained at a banquet by the Rotary Club and presented with certificates of merit by the College of Agriculture.

Two hundred club members were enrolled in Daviess County last year. Sixty of them won certificates of merit.

At the banquet each Rotarian entertained one club member. After the deliveries had been disposed of, each Rotarian introduced the club member who happened to be his particular guest, at the same time announcing the accomplishments of the boy or girl in the agricultural club.

Much enthusiasm was aroused by this particular phase of the program and the ceremony was frequently interrupted with applause which reached its height at the introduction of five sisters, all of whom raised poultry.

Following an address by a representative of the College of Agriculture and the county agent, the certificates of merit were presented.

It was a great get-together meeting not only for the boys but also for the Rotarians who formerly knew off the drouth.

very little of the work being done in Daviess County by their county agent in promoting Boys' and Girls' Agricultural Clubs. The Rotarians pledged themselves to make this banquet an annual affair. Arrangements were also completed whereby the winners in the various projects of the club next year will be presented with bronze medals.

Plan For The Drouth.

Farmers, who handle cattle, and dairymen, who milk cows, always dread the late summer drouth. At such times exquisitely green pastures become brown and stock of all kinds suffer for want of fresh green food. Those farmers that have silos for winter feeding can provide for the drouth quite easily. Summer silage is being used more generally each season and several kinds of silage can be grown.

The Experiment Station at Lexington, Ky., has used summer silage to very great advantage. For two years rye was cut and made into silage; but it was more costly to handle than corn. If an extra amount of silage were put up each autumn it could be carried over. Even an empty silo this spring could be partly filled by growing a few acres of some extra early corn which would mature ahead.

Stock Now $1.00

¶ We're away over the $200,000 mark!

We've received checks for stock from States as distant as New York and Texas! ¶ Investors are judging the value of the stock of the Louisville Mansfield Lead and Zinc Company by the record of the Kentucky Mansfield Lead and Zinc Syndicate. That company, already in operation, paid a monthly dividend of 2% in January and 3% in February. The officers and directors of both companies are chiefly the same gentlemen and the newer company has been organized to do just what the other is doing but on a larger scale. ¶ Its holdings are greater, consisting of four tracts of 40 acres each in the Mansfield District, right where the Mother Lode of the great Ozark Lead and Zinc fields comes nearest the surface. We've proven our holdings by drilling. We're already sinking the first shaft for our first mill!

WOUNDED BY SHELL THAT KILLED FOUR MEN

Under shell fire and gas for three weeks, the buildings in which he ran his canteen hit six times, and finally knocked out by a shell which killed four men, wounded thirty and put him in a hospital for two months, Guy A. Willis, a Grand Rapids, Mich., lumberman, has returned on crutches.

GUY A. WILLIS.

from France, evidence of the zeal with which Y. M. C. A. canteen men worked with the troops in the St. Mihiel and Argonne drives.

Willis was attached to the Three Hundred and Fifty-fifth regiment, Eighty-ninth division. In the Toul sector, which the division held until the St. Mihiel drive began, Willis' Y. M. C. A. outfit had a canteen near Mont Sec, at Beumont, and one of his pleasant jobs was to drive almost daily around the famous Dead Man's curve on trips to get supplies for his canteen. Willis entered Benny, in the St. Mihiel drive, three hours after the Germans had been thrown out of it.

French Tribute to "Y."

John R. Molt, general secretary of national war work council of the Y. M. C. A., has been made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor.

SIXTY-THREE "Y" MEN DECORATED

Chicago.—The Y. M. C. A. carried the Red Triangle into the camps and trenches abroad at a cost of 52 lives, sacrifice proportionately one-quarter as great as that in the American army, according to a statement issued by the national war work council of the Y. M. C. A. Of these fatalities 35 were due to disease, and the remainder to shell-fire, bombs, gas-grenades, drowning and wounds. Ten of those were women, one of whom was killed by shell fire and the others in a German air raid.

There were also 55 non-fatal casualties. These were due principally to machine gun fire, shell fire, and motor transport accidents. Numerous cases of slight wounds and gassing which were attended at dressing stations, but were not reported to headquarters, are not included.

These cases have covered in a force which at no time exceeded 3000 workers, of whom it is estimated that more than one-half were never sent to the front, being engaged in the hundreds of units which are throughout the training areas and the "leave areas."

Staying three "Y" workers were decorated, which is all more than 152 received small recognition for distinguished service. Thirteen of these were decorated with the Croix de Guerre, while 38 received other decorations. Of these, three received the Distinguished Service Cross, three the Order of St. Stanislaus, five the Italian Cavaliere del Corso, 38 the Italian War Cross, and one the French decoration of the Corps d'Armees. Seven were cited for the Croix de Guerre, and seven for other decorations, six commended for meritorious conduct, and twenty-nine received honorable mention in dispatches. Several units were cited in their entirety, those serving with the Third division being cited twice. More than a score more reported decorations have not yet been confirmed.

Not one of these men under thirty was fit for military duty, but the citations show that they carried on with the same courage and spirit that identified Americans throughout the war. These records show that they went over the top with the assaulting waves, that they exposed themselves under machine gun and shell fire to minister to the wounded, that they worked indefatigably as stretcher bearers, and that they drove ambulances into the midst of battle to rescue the wounded.

A New Shock for the British.

LONDON.—The American soldier's capacity for chocolate is a never-ending source of wonder to Britshers, a wonder that has just been given a new stimulus by a contract the Y. M. C. A. has closed to take over a plant and manufacture chocolates—300 tons of chocolates a month.

ELEGANCE IN SPRING SUITS

The youthful and chic suit shown here will interest those who are looking for novelty. Taking advantage of several privileges offered by spring styles, it has assembled straight lines, flaring sleeves, crisscross tucks and rows of buttons in a charming model made of hosiery-colored, smooth-faced cloth. Except for diagonal, slit pockets, set in at each side, the skirt is quite plain, bearing out the elegance which the designer had in mind and executed so well. The end has sinched seams forming five panels, two at the front, one at each side and one at the back. Each front panel is decorated with a row of buttons, and the side panels have beautifully crocheted tucks as a finish at the bottom.

FOR SUMMER AFTERNOONS

For summertime and afternoons, here is a frock which may be worn with assurance on the promenade or anywhere else. Any of the sheer materials—georgette, voile, lawn, organdy, will serve to make it. Its new style features are apparent in the wide hem and girdle, the round neck and deep cuffs. A simple and smart bordering on the front of the blouse contributes to its success with just the right amount of decoration.

TO CROWN YOUTHFUL HEADS

Picturesque is the word best describing the lovely millinery with which this year's debutante is destined to crown her youthful head. Everything in beautiful millinery materials is available for her—ribbons, flowers, braids, lace—and all fabrics in flower-like colors. How effectively they are used may be gathered from the hats pictured here. At the top there is a lovely hat of tuscan and piping braid trimmed with a wreath of wheat and field flowers that is like a song of summer. Below it a pretty hat of taffeta, with frayed bouquets about the brim, is lovely in wimples with a band of bright embroidery in the crown. The last hat is of hair braid overlaid with bands of narrow ribbon joined by stitches of embroidery silk.

We Want You to Ride

Thousands Praise this New Car

In the Essex

The Essex is being advertised by what people say who have tried it—not by what we claimed. That is why we ask you to ride in the Essex and see for yourself what this car will do.

The qualities in the Essex which appeal most are those very qualities that are most attractive in the light, cheap car and those of the large, costly one. They are comfort, riding ease, endurance, and elegance at a moderate cost for purchase and operation.

Ask any motorist what he thinks about the Essex. His answer is sure to be more enthusiastic than anything we have said. We have tempered all our claims. We knew how strongly the Essex would speak for itself.

Every Essex Sales Room Now Holds Motordom's Interest

Essex popularity is not limited to any one city or locality.

People instantly admire its beauty. They speak of the detail and care with which it is finished. They note its lines and talk of features they have never seen on any but costly cars. Such are their observations.

Eeling, of Garrison, at Elizabethtown and they will come to town in a few weeks. They reported down the main street was a great that they will be in the car and return on the train. Mr. Eeling was a tall, healthy, active lad, his carmine countenance, the blushing sun-shine of a robust health behind him, and he is almost as robust again, as a peach is good to eat.

They will save your teeth in their original perfect condition, or if you are just starting with the periodical prophylaxis, the dentist will be able to preserve your teeth in as good condition as they are now or will be after he once gets them in perfect condition. Efficiency Dentistry by the zero system means preservation of the teeth, reducing the decay to the minimum or zero point, and maintaining your energy at a maximum. It means minimizing tooth difficulties, preserving the teeth in as near their pristine perfection as is possible and insuring the necessary fillings, inlays or restorations, approaching the zero point. Patients who have heeded the principles of this system of periodical examination by their dentist have very few filled teeth, and where there is a filling it is a very small one. This is because the decay was caught by the dentist at a periodical examination before it had caused very much damage. A small pin point filling was all that was necessary. Had such a decay been allowed to run until the tooth ached, the whole crown of the tooth might have had to be pulled or the tooth may have had to be extracted.

The attention to the teeth is not a virtue of society nor an effort per se to maintain good appearance. While dentistry has a feature of esthetics, its larger, its main demand is necessity. There has been evolved through the fifty odd years of the development of the present practice of dentistry by the dental profession the system now termed Efficiency Dentistry. A patient can, by periodical visits to the dentist, minimize the decay of the teeth approaching the zero point. The dentist at each periodical visit of the patient examines the teeth and detects any unsoundness, and if a cavity is found, a filling is made. Such a discovery is, of course, made long before the decay would be advanced enough to cause the patient to notice it by any pain. Sometimes a patient, when a small cavity is starting, complains of lassitude and lack of energy, but of course does not attribute it to a small cavity in a tooth, for at this stage the cavity is small and often between the teeth and not observable except to a dentist, and not possible to locate it with the tongue. Besides, the average patient does not complain until a tooth aches, and of course by that time the decay has reached the sensitive nerve pulp. During the development of a decaying tooth, from the time of the first infinitesimal pit until it has enlarged and deepened until it starts to ache, there is a sapping of the patient's energy and an increasing condition of debility is developed until the ache and pain in the tooth announces to the patient the true cause. By following the Zero System of fillings by adhering to Efficiency Dentistry, the decay is discovered by the dentist long before it reaches the climax in the aching tooth, and consequently the fillings are very small and the teeth remain strong and vigorous.

Patients who have, upon advice of

PREVENTIVE DENTISTRY.

By DR. M. S. HATFIELD,

dentist, faithfully followed the principles of Efficiency Dentistry, have not few teeth lost and have never had to undergo a root canal. Likewise the teeth are high nerve force so far as durability and concern are concerned. The dentist naturally gets the patient, not what about the energy and health of the patient or the meantime? The dentist consulted so late and the operations gone so far that it means a loss of time, a withdrawal of the teeth, restoration of some kind, an artificial tooth, crown or bridge work. The ability is all saved by Efficiency Dentistry and the nerve center, health or pleasure discontinued. Let your dentist put your name on his list of patients for periodical prophylaxis, with a full understanding of the principles involved. When you are in possession of the facts regarding the advantages of periodical prophylaxis by the dentist as outlined in this article, you are in position to apply the logic of it for yourself.

Efficiency Dentistry by Zero System through periodical prophylaxis by your dentist is your Tooth Insurance. Efficiency Dentistry develops your teeth. Decay-proof your teeth now so you will not have a "toothless day".

Let Action Follow Thought.

A piano that once sold that there is no value to my thought, no matter how fine or noble, unless it is transformed into action. If you feel uplifted by beautiful music, do something that will tally with your mood, and then the music has been worth while. If you read something that is inspiring, at once do something, no matter how small, that is a little different and a little better to your routine. This theory applies with equal truth to the reader of books as more than a pastime.—Chicago American.

KEEP YOUNG CHICKS GROWING BY USING 1 FEEDING SCHEDULE GIVING BEST GAINS

Starting at the Bottom to Learn the Chicken Business.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Every poultry raiser wants his chicks to grow fast whether he plans to get them on an early market or to develop profitable layers. Early hatching is one of the first steps in this direction, but the next, which is of equal importance, is proper feeding. Undoubtedly chickens will grow faster when fed five times than when fed only three times daily, say poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture, but it should be borne in mind that more harm can be done to the young chicks by overfeeding than by underfeeding. Young chickens should be fed not more than barely enough to satisfy their appetites and to keep them exercising, except at the evening or last meal when they should be given all they care to eat. Greater care must be exercised not to overfeed young chickens that are confined than those that have free range, as leg weakness is likely to result.

Chicks' First Meals.

Inexperienced poultry raisers are tempted to feed chicks immediately after they are hatched, but this should not be done. No feed should be given before the chicks are thirtyish or forty-eight hours old. During the first week feed them stale bread, plainhead cornmeal, rolled oats, hardboiled eggs or Johnnycakes. Crumbly, but not sloppy mushes, made by mixing with milk, are considered valuable. During the second week add cracked wheat, finely cracked corn and hulled oats to the chicks' ration.

After the chicks are ten days old a good growing mash composed of two parts by weight of bran, two parts middlings, one part cornmeal, one part tow grade wheat flour or reddog middlings, and ten per cent beef scrap, may be placed in a hopper and left before them all the time. The mash does not have to be fed.

YOUNG CHICKS MUST HAVE GOOD SHELTER

No Particular Style of House Is to Be Recommended.

It Should Provide Ample Ventilation, Dryness, Sunlight, Freedom From Drafts and Can Easily Be Cleaned—Avoid Crowding.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Growing chicks should be provided with a house that will give them a place to stay in bad weather and at night. No particular style of house is recommended, but it should be so built that it will provide ample ventilation, dryness, sunlight, freedom from drafts, and be so arranged that it can be cleaned easily and frequently.

The number from piano and dry goods boxes can be used in building such a house, and when covered with ordinary roofing paper so as to keep out the rain, will make desirable quarters. It is suggested that such houses be built on the colony plan, so that they can be moved from place to place, thus providing the chicks with fresh ground to range over. Elevating such a house six inches above the ground will help to keep the floor dry, by means of the circulation of air, and such space will also provide shade for the chicks.

In placing the chicks in their growing house for the first time, it is best to confine them for several days by creating a temporary yard wherein they can run for five or six days until they learn where to return when the fence is removed and they are allowed their liberty. Care should be taken not to crowd the chicks by placing too many in one house. When the chickens cover the greater part of the floor at night, it is an indication that they are too crowded. At such a time they should be thinned out and placed in another house.

TO MAKE EGGS PROFITABLE

Hens Must Be Provided With a Variety of Grain, Some Meat, and Constant Supply of Water.

Do not forget that to make eggs in profitable numbers the hens need a variety of grain, some meat feed, some green feed, grit, charcoal and shells, and a constant supply of clean water.

THE ART OF DECORATING

Some Rooms Achieve Distinction--Others Are Just Rooms.

RESTFULNESS and Dignity are secured by using soft tinted, velvety walls as backgrounds for your furnishings. Bear in mind that the walls are the setting for the picture.

Select your paper with care. Neutral colors and shades used upon the walls enable the furniture, rugs and hangings to express their personality, and the furnished room gives a sense of restfulness and well-being that should be the keynote of every home. Our decorators will assist you in every way.

MAY DUMP SURPLUS BOOZE IN RIVER.

Louisville Sees This Possibility for Next January Saloon Men Take Bets Against Drought This Summer.

Louisville, Ky. There's a piece of news that should make the booze market jump:

One or two million gallons of Kentucky Bourbon may be dumped into the river during July.

This is the estimated surplus stock that will be on hand when national prohibition becomes effective on that date. After that time nothing can be done with the "booze" except pitch it into the river. It will be unlawful to sell it, trade it or give it away. Likewise it will be unlawful to have big stocks in one's possession. Therefore whiskey dealers and distillers have visions of seeing aged Bourbon being borne down on the surface of the Ohio river.

Stocks on hand will be even larger than this, it is estimated, should the city go "dry" July 1. The fifteen million gallon estimate is based on average sales for every week day between now and January 16.

By the way, what are your odds on the city going "dry" this summer?

A little better than even money and you will probably will have no trouble in getting "takers" among the more sportively inclined saloon proprietors.

Hats and Suits of clothing are the chief figures in the "early betting". Many saloonkeepers are wagering articles of apparel on Louisville becoming wet during the summer and fall. "Betting so far is slow" said one saloon proprietor, "but a little later it will pick up considerably. Nearly all saloon men are confident we'll not have to close until the first of the year. The Derby right now is taking up all the time and attention of those who like betting. When this event is out of the way, you'll probably hear of some interesting wagers on the situation."

Confidence is based on several ins and outs of the law. The new York test suit, in which Kentucky brewers are keenly interested, is expected to go in favor of the beer interest. Again the peace treaty, it is expected, will be signed in April. Upon signature, it is claimed, the President's war-time prohibition decree will be automatically nullified. Therefore, July 1st will lose its terror.

"Salem men," said one whiskey dealer, "are counting on at least a few months' sales between July 1st and Jan. 16. For instance, should the peace pact be signed in April they will abide strictly by its provisions, which are that 'booze' must not be sold for the next four months, during which demobilization will be effected. However, the four months will count from April, and not from July; likewise, the law is not effective until July; therefore, if the treaty is signed April 20 the four months will expire August 20. Saloons would be closed, therefore, from July 1 until August 20. On the 21st their proprietors will insist on their right of reopening and selling until Jan. 16."

A Sewer Went Forth to Sew.

Said the fictions teller: "When a man tries to sew a button on a coat he generally makes it appear as if he were sewing the coat on the button."

He U-derates.

Mrs. Henepeck says she is pretty but she hardly says a word. I don't understand why so many men propose to her." Mr. Henepeck: "I am."—London Answer.

Shark-Food.

In Japan small ground sharks are used for food and much appreciated by all classes. The fish average from eight to ten pounds and sell for 12 cents each. In Honolulu the hammerhead shark is frequently seen in the markets and its flesh is considered very nourishing and is extensively used.

The Predicament.

Toddy had the usual blue devils and did not have to go to bed as a result. But at ten o'clock he found that he had recovered, and the dressing sought his mother in the kitchen. "I'm well, mother," he announced, "but I can't go to school till noon. You see it's too late now just to be counted tardy and too early to be counted absent."

Mischiefousness of Youth.

A young wife put down her book with a sigh. "What is it, darling?" her husband asked. "Ah, dearest, I am unhappy!" she replied. "Yes, but you still have a sad look in your eyes just now." "I know, I've been reading about the unhappiness that the wives of men of genius have always had to bear. Oh, Alfred, dear, I'm so glad you're just an ordinary sort of fellow!"

Important Notice

Hon. John M. Duncan, Mayor, The City Council, and General Public of Lancaster, Ky., and Garrard County will take notice:

That the Bastin Telephone Company will discontinue telephone service to the public in Lancaster, Ky., and proposes to and will remove its poles and wires and all telephone equipment from the public streets, highways, and alleys in Lancaster. This will be done when reasonable and legal notice has been given the city and public of Lancaster, Kentucky.

Why is the Bastin Telephone Company forced to quit business in Lancaster? Because the Company loses money every month that it carries on business in Lancaster. It has no franchise to do business in this city and the rates it is allowed to charge under the present arrangement yields an insufficient income required to meet the expenses of the Company. Labor and materials required to conduct a telephone business are very high and the telephone rates which it is permitted to charge are lower than any other Telephone Company in the state operating under similar conditions. The annual loss to the Company in its Lancaster business is very large and will eventually bankrupt, not only the Company, but the owners of the stock who have constantly contributed from outside sources to the business under the hope that some steps would be taken by the public to give the Company a relief. Being thus far disappointed it finds no course save to discontinue business. To dismantle this plant which has been built at a large cost will entail upon the owners of the enterprise a cruel loss. However, something can be saved by disposing of the wreckage at this time while material is high and in demand.

The management states frankly to the public that this conclusion is forced on the Company to the deep regret of its owners and management. Every step that ingenuity could suggest to the officers of the Company have been tried out already, without any accomplishment. Its most recent plan tried was to rebuild the lines, overhaul the system throughout, change the management, all to give the best service possible to the public and after this an appeal was made to the city officials for relief, and its petition being ignored, the Company has no other course but to quit business. It publishes this frank statement with the brief explanation herein as legal notice to the City of Lancaster, Ky., and the general public.

This April third, 1919.

Yes, They Reached Paris

A Yank smiles over a few of the German helmets on the steps of the Treasury Building at Washington.

AT CURRENT market prices the helmets shown in the above pictures must be worth some small fraction of a mill.

If you wish to figure it out for yourself here are the statistics: Eighty-five thousand of the patent leather covered headgears sold recently for one dollar. The Treasury Department bought them from the War Department.

The helmets were found by the Tanks who occupied Coblenz after the signing of the armistice. They will be awarded as prizes for the best Victory Loan salesmen and saleswomen in the drive which is to begin April 21, and to school children over the country who write the best Victory Loan essays.

Drawn they are in the extreme. The Huns had been saving them to wear on that often postponed grand entry into Paris. The helmets had their grand entry if the Huns didn't. It wasn't as grand as might be, at that—they came into Paris in American box cars and went right through to the sea-board without ever getting so much as a passing glance from the Parisians.

To Clean a Ceiling.
To clean a blackened ceiling, apply a coating of starch and water to the part that has been discolored by the gas with a piece of clean flannel. Let it dry, then brush lightly off with a brush, and no marks will remain.

Costa Rica Rich in Fruit.
Costa Rica has all the raw material that is necessary, except that for containers, to develop a profitable business in canned fruits and vegetables. The list of native and cultivated fruits is long and contains many which would be in demand if the way is found to preserve the flavor.

Oil From Fruit Stones.
Salad oil is now being made from the kernels of peach, plum, apricot, and cherry stones. The kernels are first separated from the shells by a solution of calcium chloride or magnesium chloride, then washed, dried, and passed under pressure. The latter taste or odor is removed by separation.

How the Cricket Sings.
The wings of a cricket are folded horizontally and form when closed slender, thin-like tapering points beyond the wing covers. It is supposed to be by friction of the wing covers against each other and from a peculiarity of their structure, that the males produce the sound which makes these insects so well-known.—Chris. L. Hornold.

Modern Greek Language.
The last popularized educated class still used in the newspapers and other modern literature of Greece, differs from the Roman used by the lower classes. The former is distinguished by a greater resemblance to the Greek of antiquity, which renders it easy for anyone who has a satisfactory acquaintance with ancient Greek to read the literary Greek of the present day.

First Time Reckoning.
Perhaps the first reference to attempts to reckon time by mechanical means is found in Isaiah xxviii, 8, written supposedly about 713 B. C., "the sun dial of Ahaz." Pliny says that Anaximander invented a sun dial about 550 B. C. The first sun dial at home was placed in the temple of Quirinus, about 298 B. C., when time was divided into hours. The clepsydra, or water clock, was the next time recorder invented.

'Tis Not So.

Who Founded Jerusalem?
It was identified by Josephus with Sodoma, a city whose king some thirty-five centuries ago was Machisedech, a Chaldean. The city did not pass completely to possession of the Jews until the time of David.

Oil Different.
Try to find a better reason for your than "everybody does it." There are times in dress, in charities in causes that are defended on this ground. The girl who thinks it is easier to dress immodestly because her neighbor does, has a sense of propriety. Custom does make a thing right or sensible.

Needles Long in Use.
Steel needles were in and among the Gauls in Athens and elsewhere, so that they may have had early origin. The earliest inventors were then one country. The earliest European eyed needles were of bone and ivory, sometimes of bronze. In 150 B. C. needles were certainly being made in Nuremberg, possibly in England also, though until 1700 the art was said to come from Spain.

Staving Off Old Age.
Among many other extraordinary arts for prolonging one's stay on this mortal planet may be mentioned that of a South African farmer who advised people to eat every day four cups of bananas steeped in sweet whisky, and that of a professor of the University of Pennsylvania who said that much could be done by staving off old age by frequently having one's feet tickled!

Showed Greatness in Youth.
At the age of 14, and when a sophomore at Cambridge, Francis Bacon left the university in disgust, declaring that the whole system of education was radically wrong at Cambridge and everywhere else. And Bacon lived to prove that he was conservatively right in his contention. Swift despised his teachers because he knew more than they did, and therefore had difficulty in securing a degree.

THE MOST

DANGEROUS DISEASE

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they grow up and enlarge to twice their original size, and 1,000,000,000 trillions go without doing it, unless you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pain in the back—wake up now. Your kidneys need help. These are often worn down at your old age, and you are performing your functions poorly. They are only half as full work, and are allowing impurities to accumulate and convert the body into a mass of poisons, causing disease and death. If you are not strong, they are driven from your system.

SOLDIERS GIVEN PREFERENCE IN RECONSTRUCTION WORK

Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, Director General of Missionary Center, Says Methodist Church Will Use Soldiers In Rebuilding Program.

"Our first duty is to give the returning sons a job," declared Dr. W. B. Beauchamp, director general of the Centenary Campaign of the M. E. Church, which to a group of newspaper reporters avowed, "The boys coming back will not let nearly so trifling over-tag waving and shouting from the sidewalks as they will be to tell the grasp of a friendly hand and the words, 'We've got a job waiting for you, old fellow!'" All over the country men are with their best wits and energies to find places for the boys who were willing to face death when the need came.

"The Methodist Church can do its part in giving work to the boys who are coming back, and we are going to do that part to the best of our ability. From May 18 to 25 we will conduct a drive for $115,000,000, of which our own church, the M. E. Church, South, will be responsible for $45,000,000. The success of this campaign will mean the immediate erection of churches and schools and the opening of jobs of all kinds."

"Many of the returning boys may not be adjusted to the after-war conditions and therefore, will not, for a time, be able to get started in their trades. We will keep in constant touch with these conditions through our pastors and conference workers and will consider it a privilege to see to it that these men are given work. We will need bricklayers, carpenters, architects, business and professional assistance, and, where a boy has caught the vision of larger service—ministers—we will need all of this help, and we will see to it that the soldier is given the chance at the job first."
